

Zounds! is available online at kunm.org.

Thanks for supporting public radio KUNM 89.9 FM!

The KUNM community has come through once again to support independent local media on KUNM 89.9 FM. We're most grateful to everyone who participated in our spring membership campaign, contributing the funds that pay for the programs you enjoy on KUNM!

We don't have final figures to report yet, as there's still a lot more data entry to do, but as of this writing, we've processed $158,000 in gifts and pledges, from the mail and on-air campaigns combined.

Raising and processing the money is an enormous undertaking, and this spring's campaign was notable for the number of people who showed up at the right time, with the right skills, to help us get the work done.

I'm going to go out on a limb here and name names -- risky, because I'll almost certainly miss someone. But these great folks really need to be acknowledged.

This year's phone captain crew was fantastic -- led by Daniel Monroe, who handled every one of our 6-9 a.m. weekday shifts!

Jean Crawford volunteered every single day of the drive, sometimes coming in on short notice, or working a double shift -- talk about dedication!

Other phone room captains included Carol Spizman (welcome back, Carol!), Kathy Sabo, Tiffany Brazil, Pam Owens (a phone-room veteran!), Janet Simon, and Sylvia Fitchen.

Community Support From Another Sector

You hear us say that KUNM is supported by the community. The bulk of our funding (50 percent) is grass-roots support from listeners. Local businesses, also an important part of the KUNM community, provide another 25 percent.

And, acting on behalf of the community, elected officials are pitching in as well.

For the first time ever, KUNM has been awarded direct funding from the State of New Mexico.

Capital requests introduced by Senator Dede Feldman and Representative Gail Beam during the recently concluded 2005 Legislative session were approved by Governor Richardson on April 8, 2005. The requests provide $50,000 to support construction and equipment improvements for the KUNM facilities in Oñate Hall on the UNM campus.

KUNM appreciates the vision and support of Senator Feldman and Representative Beam for our massive renovation project and the forthcoming conversion to the new era of digital radio. KUNM also had support and guidance from Carlos Rey Romero, Director of Government Affairs at UNM with coordination in UNM President Louis Caldera's office. The UNM lobbying team, especially Richard Romero, was instrumental in helping with the KUNM request. We are all appreciative of the help in our work to serve the community. If you have a moment, please contact all of these good people to say "Thanks for helping KUNM." ■

REPORT TO THE KUNM COMMUNITY

by Richard S. Towne, KUNM General Manager

Action at the FCC Opens Way to KUNM Expansion

April was a significant month for KUNM in the arena of decisions by the FCC to grant several applications to increase our capacity to serve New Mexico. Significant recognition goes to KUNM Chief Engineer Kevin Rogers for realizing and actualizing opportunities for expanded coverage of KUNM programming.

The FCC has approved a power increase of about 15% for KUNM's main transmitter at Sandia Crest. This will increase our output power to the maximum allowed at the Crest. Two years ago, you helped fund the replacement of our aging transmitter. The new transmitter is capable of increased output, now the FCC has approved our request. This should improve coverage in areas that are now somewhat difficult for reception (canyons, hillsides, fringe areas near the limits of current coverage). Our timetable for increasing the power rests on completion of a final environmental study but we hope to proceed by summer time.

The FCC also gave non-commercial radio stations provisional authority to begin digital multi-casting. As public and community radio stations begin to add digital transmission, we can now seek FCC permission to broadcast two simultaneous program streams from the digital transmitter and antenna. Of course, you will need a new digital radio receiver which won't be on the market place until just in time for Christmas.

FCC approval of the technical tests to allow multi-casting is a significant advancement in the path toward multiple digital program streams. KUNM's programming will always continue on your current radios... we will expand into the new world of digital terrestrial radio this year by adding a digital transmitter and antenna at our main studio on Sandia Crest.

The FCC also ruled on several competitive proposals for service in Socorro. While we are not completely through the process at the FCC, it looks like we will be able to build a more powerful station to serve Socorro and surrounding communities. If all turns out as planned, we will move our programs to a new frequency with much higher power in Socorro over the next year or two. This should greatly improve service along the I-40 highway drive toward Las Cruces and to the very rural populations around Socorro County.

Lastly, the FCC has approved KUNM's proposal in the settlement of another competitive application. This time, it's for a new full-power station in Española. Construction time frames for our new station in Española extend out to 2008 but by the time we are done, we should add a tremendous new radius of service in Española that will fill in problem listening areas north of Santa Fe and in Los Alamos County. The signal will extend north to near the Colorado border and will provide first public radio service to about 75,000 people in the region.

These expansions in KUNM's service to New Mexican's have been in the pipeline for many years. A massive nationwide backlog of competing applications, predominantly caused by religious broadcasters seeking to exploit loopholes in FCC technical rules, caused long delays in processing of applications at the FCC. Settlement procedures adopted by the FCC were challenged in the courts by religious broadcasters, causing additional delays in awarding applications like KUNM's to provide new noncommercial radio services. As the backlog continues to be cleared by the FCC, KUNM will look to expanding our current service in the Angel Fire and Cimarron areas and will continue to explore new ways to improve and expand our signal's reach. As a KUNM contributor, please accept our thanks for your investment in our work. By contributing to KUNM you are allowing us to invest in the "R&D" and in the delivery of new public radio services to new communities in and around New Mexico. ■

KUNM Radio Board Meeting Tuesday, May 3, 6-8 p.m.

Room 100, Scholes Hall,
UNM Campus

The regular monthly meeting of the KUNM Radio Board is held the first Tuesday of each month; the public is invited to attend. "Open Mic" time is provided to take your comments and questions.

You can email the KUNM Radio Board at:
radioboard@kunm.org

There were also lots of great people who saw there was work to be done, and pitched right in to do it. Special thanks here to Sarah Beck, Sharon Bode, and Jane "J" Gates.

Scott Ernst Custom Woodworks in La Cueva really fired up our direct mail effort by donating a beautiful walnut hall table which we offered as a grand prize.

Scott has been working with designers and individuals since 1994, designing and building the furniture you've always wanted -- even if you don't know what it looks like! You can see his digital portfolio online at scott.ernst.org.

Everyone says we have the best pledge drive snacks, and I won't argue with that! Chocolate Cafe got us going every morning with wonderful scones, croissants and sweet rolls, accompanied by our favorite Whiting Coffee.

To recreate the experience for yourself, visit Chocolate Cafe at 2933 Monte Vista NE, near Girard and Central; and Whiting Coffee Company at 3700 Osuna NE, 3/4 mile west of I-25.

Blue Dragon came through again with their wonderful pizzas and salads -- twice a day! They serve up lots of yummy stuff at 1517 Girard NE, along with great entertainment.

Dinner was a different feast every night, catered by Gourmet to Go. Our thanks to Sharon for providing such a great variety of wonderful dishes! She'd love to provide catering for you too; you can reach her at 880-0057 in Albuquerque.

We also enjoyed goodies from:

CATS

There's no better way to introduce your family to the wonders of live theater than with the magic, the mystery, the memory of CATS. What began as a musical about cats after Andrew Lloyd Webber picked up a book of poems in an airport bookshop, has become the longest running show in Broadway's history. Winner of seven Tony Awards, including Best Musical, CATS features 20 of Andrew Lloyd Webber's timeless melodies, including the hit song "Memory."

Joanne Shenandoah is an award winning Native American composer, vocalist and performer. Her original compositions, combined with a striking voice, enable her to embellish the ancient songs of the Iroquois using a blend of traditional and contemporary instrumentation. From traditional chants to contemporary ballads about Native ways, her music has been described as an emotional experience, a "Native American trance." Called the "Native American Enya" by Billboard magazine, Ms. Shenandoah has performed at the White House, Woodstock '94 and Earth Day on the Mall.

The Campaign to Stop News Fraud

From Timothy Carr, Campaign Director at Free Press:

Your efforts have paid off. The Federal Communications Commission and Congress are now taking steps to stop news fraud.

In April, the FCC instructed all newscasters to fully disclose the origin of “video news releases” (VNRs) aired on their programs. The FCC took this action as a direct response to the more than 40,000 Free Press activists who signed our petition in March.

Sen. Ted Stevens (R-Alaska) announced that he would call a Senate hearing on VNRs. Also, Sens. Frank Lautenberg (D-N.J.) and John Kerry (D-Mass.) announced their intention to introduce legislation to stop the government from putting out VNRs without clearly displaying their source.

The actions of Free Press activists prove — once again — that we can stop the spread of government- and corporate-sponsored propaganda, investigate payola pundits, block media consolidation and create a more democratic media system for generations to come. None of this would have happened without your help.

If you have not added your name to the “stop news fraud” petition, please do so now and help keep this issue in the headlines: www.freepress.net/action/fakenews.

Free Press and the Center for Media and Democracy are now working to identify local stations that use VNRs without full disclosure. We’re collaborating with local groups to establish “citizen agreements” under which local broadcasters pledge not to use pre-packaged, government- or corporate-sponsored propaganda without prominently identifying the source.

To learn more about the FCC action, visit our “Stop News Fraud” pages.

We’ll keep you posted on the next steps happening both on the national level and in your community. Thank you for your ongoing efforts to reclaim our media.

RADIO HIGHLIGHTS

Sunday, May 1

11 a.m. American Radio Works, “Locked Down: Gangs in the Supermax.” Supermax prisons are icons of America’s tough penal system. But do Supermaxes live up to their promise of stopping violent crime? This hard-hitting report takes listeners inside one Supermax prison where sophisticated prison gangs flourish, often against all odds. Through unprecedented access to prisoners and staff at California’s Pelican Bay State Prison, the documentary offers a startling portrait of life under lockdown and exposes alarming links between prison gangs and street crime. “Locked Down” also follows some inmates as they leave behind a life of crime through a controversial program that pulls men out of the gangs. Learn more at www.americanradioworks.org.

10:30 p.m. Radio Theatre. “A Long Vacation” is a new radio play by Birke Duncan based on a story by Garrett Vance. It deals with the supernatural repercussions that befall an American teacher after he falls for a Japanese woman on a Pacific resort island.

Wednesday, May 4

8:30 a.m. Bioneers, “The Trojan Gene – Genetic Engineering and the Future of Nature.” A handful of profit-driven biotechnology corporations are rewriting the genetic code of the tree of life, radically altering the composition of our food and releasing self-replicating genetic pollution into the natural world. Farmer Percy Schmeiser, technology expert Andrew Kimbrell, and Native American professor and farmer John Mohawk explore the implications of genetic engineering on the food we eat, the farmers who raise our food, the natural world and society.

7 p.m. Readings and Conversations. Pattiann Rogers is considered one of America’s finest contemporary poets, writing densely detailed, thickly textured poems describing the natural world and one’s place in it that are informed by a broad knowledge of science. Rogers will read from her work, then be joined onstage for a conversation with Christopher Merrill, who has written on contemporary American poetry, nature, French Surrealism, Georgia O’Keeffe, the Third Balkan War, and soccer. This event will take place at the Lensic Performing Arts Center in Santa Fe, and is sponsored by the Lannan Foundation.

Friday, May 6

8 a.m. University Showcase presents “Peer Bridgers.” Our guest will be Jane Thompson, Coordinator of the Peer Bridgers Program at the University of New Mexico’s Psychiatric Center. The Peer Bridger Program is working to manage mental illnesses by partnering with individuals who have themselves been diagnosed with mental health problems. The Bridgers act as mentors assisting patients to develop a personalized, multi-part plan to achieve and maintain wellness. Hosted by Jane Blume, produced by Dick Frederiksen

9 a.m. Yo-Yo Ma, The Silk Road Ensemble recorded in Concert. One of the most popular and recognizable classical artists performing today returns to Chicago for his latest musical exploration off the beaten path. Now in the 5th year of their internationally acclaimed collaboration, cellist Yo-Yo Ma and the Silk Road Ensemble continue to explore the musical cultures that flourished along the Silk Road - the ancient trade route between China and the West - with their latest recording titled Silk Road Journeys: Beyond the Horizon, which was released in April. The composers and musicians selected for this program all share a mastery of both a traditional and contemporary musical language, and by this mastery have forged unique, bi-cultural careers.

Saturday, May 7

6 a.m. New Dimensions. “Ethics, Values, Integrity and Mastery,” with David A. Schmaltz. Schmaltz discusses how to engage our work life in ways that give us joy and meaning. Program #3074

7 p.m. Ear to the Ground, Leiahdorus. Combining a rusty piano, electronics, drums and acoustics to create songs and sounds unheard, this trio features Jason Smith (keyboards, vocals), Darla Van Winkle (keyboards, backing vocals) and Fox Fletcher (guitar). The result of this combination meets your ears in the form of synthpop with a “Smith’s” overtone.

Sunday, May 8

11 a.m. Sage Health on Call. Live Call-in show featuring body/mind/spirit health approaches that complement western medicine. Fourth anniversary Mother’s Day topic is “Navajo Earth Mother.” Guest speaker is Marcella King Ben, Navajo lawyer and wise woman, who graduated from the University of Arizona with a law degree. King Ben is on various advisory councils for law schools around the country, and works for the Navajo Nation in the Office of Hearings and Appeals. Join co-hosts Dr. Melinda Garcia, PhD, holistic health psychologist in private practice in Albuquerque, and Chester Brown, Jr., Navajo martial arts instructor, and works in the Special Studies Department at UNM in Albuquerque. Produced by Halima Christy, MA.

10:30 p.m. Radio Theatre. “Inquisitions (and Other Un-American Activities) Part I” recounts the history of the movement for an 8-hour workday, the Haymarket bombing and the Palmer Raids, relating the struggle for social justice and free speech of that era to today’s post-September 11th Bush/Ashcroft assault on civil liberties and dissent.

Wednesday, May 11

8:30 a.m. Bioneers, “The Art of Relationships – From Ecology to Healing.” Ecology is the superb art of interdependent relationships. Author and physicist Fritjof Capra, Native American educator Jeannette Armstrong, and medical researcher Jeanne Achterberg describe the complex and interconnected relationships inherent in living systems that can help our environment, our societies, and us.

Fritjof Capra

Friday, May 13

8 a.m. Colors of Justice. A local program with a focus on environmental justice issues.

Saturday, May 14

6 a.m. New Dimensions. “Music as Medicine,” with Gary Malkin and Michael Stillwater. Musicians Malkin and Stillwater use their music to help others explore insights that help us move through fear, whether we’re dealing with minor setbacks or major life crises. Program #3077

Gary Remal Malkin & Michael Stillwater

7 p.m. Ear to the Ground, The Alibi Spring Crawl recorded April 23 at The District. Check our webpage at www.kunm.org/etg for performers.

Sunday, May 15

11 a.m. American Radio Works, “A Mind of Their Own.” What does it feel like to have a mind you can’t control? For three young people diagnosed with bipolar disorder, it’s a brave journey into uncharted medical and emotional territory. “A Mind of Their Own” follows Erin, Eric, and Athena, along with their parents, doctors, teachers, and advocates, as they navigate puberty and adolescence with a serious mood disorder that even the experts are unsure how to treat.

10:30 p.m. Radio Theatre. “Inquisitions (and Other Un-American Activities) Part II” (see listing for May 8) was written by Greg Guma, editor of the Vermont Guardian, Winooski, VT, and former editor of Toward Freedom magazine.

Wednesday, May 18

8:30 a.m. Bioneers, “Who’s in Charge? How Communities are Outlawing Corporate Factory Farming.” Why can powerful corporations legally pollute communities and override local decision making? Attorney Tom Linzey is working to restore democracy by challenging the underlying laws and assumptions that give corporations civil rights without civil responsibilities.

Friday, May 20

8 a.m. Back Roads Radio. Incidents of cross-cultural communications and experiences can often be perplexing, embarrassing and humorous. In our attempts to understand each other, accommodate and respect differences, sometimes we’re taken into unimaginable situations. Listen to the stories of New Mexican writers and storytellers as they cross the cultural divide. Back Roads Radio is a production of Viewpoint Productions, hosted by Judy Goldberg.

Saturday, May 21

6 a.m. New Dimensions. “Staying Centered in a Busy World,” with Joan Borysenko. Borysenko helps others weave rituals and good communication skills into your busy days to stay centered, have more wisdom, be more productive, and have more fun in an overly busy life. Program #3072

10 a.m. For Richer, For Poorer: A Global Call-In.

Hosted from London, Boston and Los Angeles, and reaching audiences on five continents, this special two-hour call-in program will explore the impact of globalization on your way of life, wherever you live. How does global economic change affect the lives of ordinary people? What are the cultural pluses and minuses of the global marketplace? How can poor nations compete in a world where multinationals and their brands have global reach? Hosts Robin Lustig (BBC’s Talking Point), Dick Gordon (WBUR’s The Connection) and Larry Mantle (KPCC’s AirTalk) will guide a lively global conversation between experts from around the world and listeners who call, e-mail or send text messages.

7 p.m. Ear to the Ground, Jenny Gamble. One of the most important artists in Albuquerque, Jenny has a sweet sound and a take-no-prisoners approach.

Sunday, May 22

11 a.m. American Radio Works, “The Cost of Corruption.” Until recently, bribes and other forms of corruption were considered business as usual for western corporations and governments operating overseas. Now, transnational institutions see corruption as a major obstacle to development. But in the hyper-competitive global marketplace, can corruption ever be eradicated? Produced by Michael Montgomery and including extraordinary tape from Peru, Sao Tome and the Republic of Georgia, “The Cost of Corruption” will explore corruption from the inside. The focus will not just be on the problems besetting these countries, but on attempts at finding solutions.

10:30 p.m. Radio Theatre. “This Miserable Kingdom” by Marc Calderwood, a drama that will bring a greater awareness to the public of the issues that led to the Pueblo Revolt of 1680. This work illuminates some very important issues involving history and contemporary cultures, the importance of religious beliefs and political self-determination in shaping the Pueblo Revolt, and ways in which the Spanish and Pueblo communities engaged in conflicts while also sharing many religious beliefs and cultural traits that grew stronger during the centuries after the Revolt. Directed by Reiko Yazzie and produced by Rachel Kaub at KUNM in 2004.

Wednesday, May 25

8:30 a.m. Bioneers, “Race and Place – A Birthright to Creation.” It’s a fact of life that communities of color and low-income communities suffer the worst environmental damage. Urban planner Greg Watson, physician Martha Arguello, and activist and scholar Carl Anthony show how these communities have found practical ways to reclaim the health and well-being of both their places and their health.

Friday, May 27

8 a.m. Peace Talks

Saturday, May 28

6 a.m. New Dimensions. “A World Without Oil,” with Richard Heinberg. Heinberg discusses the impact oil has on our present-day world and on significant events in the past, and how we can create a world where every culture around the globe is a sustainable culture. Program #3079

7 p.m. Ear to the Ground, Roust the House All Star Show: Teen Performance Night, recorded May 13 at the Outpost Performance Space. This series includes music sets from selected local teen bands of all varieties, poetry readings, dance performances, and any other performances local teens are ready to share. The line up for this final Roust the House of the spring season will be selected by the Outpost staff from the finest acts who have performed in previous shows this spring. Check our webpage for performers.

Sunday May 29

11 a.m. Smart City Radio is an hour-long public radio talk show that takes an in-depth look at urban life — the people, places, ideas and trends shaping cities. Host Carol Coletta talks with national and international public policy experts, elected officials, economists, business leaders, artists, developers, planners and others for a penetrating discussion of urban issues. The show will be heard once a month, on Sunday at 11 a.m.

10:30 p.m. Radio Theatre, “The Prestigious Prestidigitator.” We promised you this program in March but the Prestidigitator played a trick on us and disappeared, hiding right under our noses but under a different name. Now we’ll try again to bring you this parody of the old noir dramas of the 1930s in which a world famous magician comes to New York to set up a school of magic, but the crime rate in the city rises in direct proportion to the number of graduates cranked out.

Las Vegas Translator Still Out of Service

The translator that brings KUNM's signal to the Las Vegas area has been out of service for the past six weeks at least, and we share your pain.

We've been unable to service the Las Vegas translator due to a lease dispute with the property owner. And for a while, snow was a factor as well, as the translator is in a remote location, and difficult to reach under the best circumstances.

We are diligently working to resolve the lease issue and regain access to the facility. KUNM does not have an estimated time for restoration, but we're committed to providing service to the Las Vegas community and will restore transmission just as soon as possible.

If you have any questions or comments or if you have ridden in an alien spacecraft, contact our Chief Engineer, Kevin Rogers, at kunmceng@unm.edu. ■
