KUNM or Uncle Sam?

by Mary Oishi, Development Director

What a year! So many transitions have happened—endings and beginnings everywhere we turn.

The music world lost some real luminaries this year: Max Roach, Luciano Pavoratti, and Lucky Dube among them. The jazz world was hit especially hard, starting with both Alice Coltrane and Michael Brecker in January and at least one a month thereafter it seems. Mark “Wrongway” Weber was starting to get downright sad having to put together so many tribute sets.

On the other hand, 2007 also brought us some surprising new collaborations, like Raising Sand, by Robert Plant and Allison Krause, plus several musicians releasing new work after many years’ hiatus, like Joni Mitchell and Lyle Lovett and Prince. Matthew Finch, KUNM’s Music Director, will no doubt have a year-end round-up of the releases of 2007 at www.kunm.org before the month is out.

On the political front, it was out with one Attorney General and in with another. Closer to home, it looks like New Mexico is poised for changing the guard in nearly every major political seat, with the announcement by Senator Domenici and the vacancies that will open because of people leaving their posts to enter the race to replace him.

This year KUNM is keeping you informed—from live reporting from the Roundhouse early in the year, to gavel-to-gavel coverage of the General Petraeus Congressional hearings mid-year, to Presidential primary debates as the year winds down. It has been an interesting (albeit often exasperating) year on the political front and 2008 promises to be even more interesting (and we hope more fruitful). You know you can count on KUNM to bring you, as we always have, in-depth coverage—not just soundbites—on the local, statewide, national, and international scenes. And we pledge to continue to provide forums for you to voice your concerns, ideas and perspectives as the coming year unfolds.

All of this costs considerable money, and KUNM’s expenses go up every year just like everyone else’s. And yes! yes! yes! we had a record-breaking on-air fundraiser in October. We totally appreciate the response of our listeners—especially the fact that we got 682 new members. That’s gratifying, to say the least. But we only broke the “on-air” record for number of calls and dollars pledged in those 7 days. As of this writing, we still did not reach our overall goal (which was ambitious but necessary) because our mail-in renewals and web pledges were down slightly.

So if you find yourself thinking ahead to April 15, 2008, and are reluctant to send one more dime than you absolutely must to Washington, D.C., I urge you to send it to KUNM this month instead. Here’s how: You can make an extra gift on-line at our secure site with your VISA or Mastercard credit or debit card at www.kunm.org. Just click the “pledge now” link. Or, you can mail your check to KUNM 89.9 FM, MSC06 3520, 1 University of New Mexico, ABQ, NM 87131-0001.

Or, if you have a car or truck or boat or motorcycle or RV that you’d like to donate to KUNM before the end of the year, call Vehicles for Charity at 1-866-628-2277 or visit their link on our website, www.kunm.org. They will handle everything for you, including the free towing of your vehicle. Be sure to tell them you want the donation to go to KUNM-FM. We are not the only non-profit for whom they provide this service.

The staff of KUNM forgoes several holidays throughout the year so we can group most of our holidays at year-end, so we will not be in the development offices here after December 21st. However, your contribution will still count for the 2007 tax year if it is dated and we receive it before December 31. So, if you have questions about membership or donations before December 21st, please call 505-277-3968 or email membership@kunm.org.

After December 21st, if you want to donate stocks, bonds, real

“Best of the Year” Music Programs Airing Near Year’s End

By Richard S. Towne, KUNM General Manager

I have forgotten to remind you of some special listening on KUNM for about the past 12 Decembers or so. This time, I actually remembered what it is that I wanted to remind you of. The fact that I remembered something makes me happy in and of itself.

December brings a fantastic aspect to many of our music shows. Many of our wonderful programmers look back on the year and will present you with their top musical selections from the past year. Would you like to know our pick for the best folk music releases of 2007? Keep an ear on Folk Routes (Saturday mornings from ten to noon) and you’ll be “in the know.” How about best of the Blues in 2007? Keep a sharp ear on The Blues Show (Wednesdays 7-10). Many of our other fine music programs will be presenting from best of 2007 favorites.

So be sure to tune in, especially during the week between Christmas and New Year’s to catch the best of the best from 2007 in all of the splendid diversity coming out of our music library and control room to your radio ears. Since we feature music from around the globe and across our communities, chances are excellent that you will find the musical year in review to be a very pleasant experience.

December is magical for music for another reason. Many musicians and music labels release new material in late Fall to coincide with holiday gift giving. (January can be very dry musically for the very same reason; everything was released in November and December). While I don’t really support the consumerism related to the holidays, KUNM benefits by having so much new music coming in during December. The new music and the “year-in-review” presentations offer sublime challenges to our music programmers. You can be sure they are up to the challenge and will delight you with the very coolest music on the airwaves. We have so many talented presenters in our music programming that I am sure we will brighten you up musically across the holiday season. Since UNM closes down during the holidays, the paid staff at KUNM takes a holiday and you can be certain we will be enjoying the music right along with you.

Elsewhere in this month’s Zounds program guide (and www.kunm.org/zounds), you can find listings for a treasure trove of holiday programming that compliments our many special broadcasts during the month. I’ll be glued to the radio on December 9 at 6 p.m. for Chanukah: A Time for Shtick. Here’s the partial description, “From Groucho Marx to Judy Gold, this holiday special focuses on jokes, whimsy and the shtick of comedians, storytellers, even the great jokester Sigmund Freud himself. This program could be called, The First Annual Public Radio Chanukah Joke Show, no joke.” Now that’s my kind of radio....

And before we leave 2007 behind, its only just and fitting that I thank you for making this such a good year for KUNM. Our deep appreciation for your support and advocacy is always near at hand. No one knows better than we do, that without listeners, and without the crucial participation of contributing listeners like you, community radio KUNM would simply not exist as we know it. Your gift to KUNM is a gift to the whole community and all of us here wish you and yours the very best of the holiday season. ✍ estate, or something that you cannot donate on-line or through Vehicles for Charity, you can contact the UNM Foundation on December 26th, 27th, or 28th from 9 am to 3 pm and on December 31st from 9 am to 5 pm at 505-277-4503 and one of their staff can answer your questions. Be sure to tell them your donation is for KUNM-FM since they also will be providing details and assistance to year-end donors for various UNM departments.

However you donate, and whatever you donate, I hope one of the last transitions of 2007 will be a transition of any extra resources you have to KUNM, your radio station right here in your state—one of the treasured resources that really benefits you and your community year after year after year.

Thank you sincerely for helping KUNM to meet its challenges and keep going strong through 2007. Most of all, thank you for listening. Your listening makes this labor of love on the part of the staff and volunteers all worthwhile. I hope you find ways to connect with everything and everyone you love during this season of short days and cold nights. And, as the Zounds cover invites, cozy up with KUNM's special holiday programs—and the programs that inspire and inform you all year long. ✎

FCC Plans Vote on Media Ownership Rules

Now is a crucial moment in the fight against media consolidation. A front page story in the New York Times revealed FCC Chairman Kevin Martin's plan to fast track a vote on media ownership rules -- one that would let the biggest media companies control even more local outlets. Despite a massive public outcry at the FCC's public hearings and authoritative research on the potential impact of weakened ownership limits, Martin is pushing changes that would accelerate corporate consolidation, destroy local newsrooms, and further aggravate our nation's crisis in media ownership by women and people of color.

With a vote planned as early as December, the time to turn up the heat on the FCC is now. We are directly challenging Martin's secret plan with thousands of citizen comments and plenty of public pressure. We're working with allies in Congress to introduce legislation that would safeguard public input and participation in the FCC's rulemaking process. And we all need to work together to shed a bright enough spotlight on media consolidation to make the Chairman think twice before ramming through such a controversial vote.

You can do your part by encouraging your friends and colleagues to contact Congress on this issue and help spread the word about the FCC's plan for media ownership rule changes through newsletter articles, e-mail blasts, blog posts, op-eds, letters to the editor, etc. We have lots of great resources on our StopBigMedia.com website, including a fun Web game called "Whack-a-Murdoch" -- your chance to drop the hammer on Big Media moguls and consolidation.

Telecoms Caught Censoring on Cell Phones and Internet

The verdict is in. Leave the telephone and cable companies to their own devices and they will discriminate, block, and play gatekeeper whenever it suits them. The past few months have provided plenty of examples. In the wired world, Comcast was caught red-handed blocking the legal file-sharing service BitTorrent.

This came just weeks after Verizon blocked text messages from NARAL Pro-Choice America to its own members. And late August found AT&T blocking statements critical of President Bush from a webcast of a Pearl Jam concert.

These are examples of exactly the type of censorship that Americans have warned would occur without Net Neutrality protections. Tired of the constant apologies, the SavetheInternet.com Coalition is urging people to contact the FCC and their members of Congress to demand laws that would protect the free flow of information on any platform.

Congress Advances Bills for Community Radio & Community Internet

On Capitol Hill and across the country, support continues to grow for Low Power FM (LPFM) radio. A bill now pending in Congress would create thousands more community stations offering uniquely local news, views and music programming. The Local Community Radio Act (S.1675) passed last week through the Senate Commerce Committee. A similar bill is pending in the House.

The Senate Commerce Committee also recently passed the bipartisan Community Broadband Act (S.1853). This legislation promotes universal, affordable Internet access by empowering local communities to deliver essential high-speed Internet access to all their citizens. It would overturn statewide bans on cities building their own municipal Internet networks.

The next step for each of these bills would be a floor vote by the full Senate. Organizations and individuals interested in these issues should make calls to their senators, asking them to co-sponsor the bills and help ensure that they advance.

Update: 2008 National Conference for Media Reform

The 2008 National Conference for Media Reform will be held in Minneapolis on June 6-8, 2008. We are excited to bring together activists, media makers, educators, journalists, policymakers and concerned citizens to call for real and lasting changes to our nation's media system. Registration for the conference will open in January. In a couple of weeks, we will open a call for program suggestions and session proposals through our Web site. Check out the NCMR Web site to sign up for e-mail updates.

Special Bulletin for KUNM Listeners in the Socorro Area.

KUNM will increase the power of its signal and move to a new frequency in Socorro at some point in the next 45 days. Our current transmission will move from 91.9 in Socorro to 88.7 on your FM radio. Our power will increase ten-fold from ten watts to 100 watts, giving a larger and more robust coverage area from "M" mountain. We don't have a firm date just yet, so stay tuned and you'll hear us announce details as the date comes into focus. Please remember that we will move from 91.9 to 88.7 to improve our service to your community.

Saturday, December 1

6 a.m. New Dimensions. “Your Attitudes Affect Your Health,” with author Dawson Church. Science is beginning to corroborate a link between one’s beliefs, and which genes become activated for one’s health. Thoughts, beliefs, attitudes, prayer, religious faith, a rich social network, and charitable acts all are factors in staying healthy. The releasing of emotional trauma and even believing in a loving God, rather than a punishing God can have an effect on one’s capacity for health and healing. Dawson Church says, “There is a direct link between held emotional trauma and physical healing. I urge people to do whatever it takes to release emotional trauma. Emotional Freedom Techniques (EFT) is great for releasing emotional trauma, but, for you, it could be prayer, it could be a nurturing friend, it could be an act of altruism.” Church has spent over twenty-five years researching, writing, and gathering the best in the field of health and healing, and has made these findings accessible to all.

6 p.m. AIDS Up Close. On the eve of World Aids Awareness Day Dec. 2, we present a one-hour special produced by the World Vision Report. An estimated 40-million people around the world live with HIV/AIDS. Four million new cases are reported each year. And almost three million die from it. But the story of HIV-AIDS isn’t just about suffering and death. It’s also about hope and life. The program includes a series of vignettes that will enhance your understanding of the world AIDS crisis. (Pre-empts Alternative Radio)

Sunday, December 2

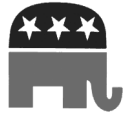

11 a.m. The Lore of the Land. Parts 12 and 13. This 15 part radio documentary series explores the land and people of the southwestern U.S. and Mexico. Producer Jack Loeffler looks at the relationship of indigenous cultures of the Southwest to their respective habitats by speaking with members of the Hopi, Puebloan, Navajo and Tohono O’odham and Hispano cultures who share their sense of the sacred quality of homeland.

6 p.m. Radio Theatre. “Sorry, Wrong Number” by Lucille Fletcher. Leona Steveson is the spoiled, bedridden daughter of a millionaire. The telephone is her sole connection with the outside world. One day, while listening to what seems to be a crossed phone connection, she eavesdrops on two men planning a woman’s murder. Leona calls the phone company and police, only to be ignored. This production is from a vintage recording in the KUNM Music Library.

Agnes Moorhead originated the role in a legendary 1943 radio performance that preceded the 1948 Hollywood film. “Destruction Comes In Many Ways And Means,” an improvisational comedy revue from the “Offramp” troupe, completes the hour.

Monday, December 3

12 noon. NPR Republican Presidential Candidate Debate Live from Iowa. The leading Republican presidential candidates are quizzed by NPR News hosts Robert Siegel, Michelle Norris and Steve Inskeep. (Pre-empts All That Jazz and part of Freeform).

Tuesday, December 4

Wednesday, December 5

10 p.m. Southwest Stages. “An Evening with Bunny Wailer.” Music and interview from reggae icon Bunny Wailer, recorded live from the 2006 Bob Marley Roots, Rock, Reggae Tour at the Journal Pavilion Amphitheater, in Albuquerque in August 2006.

Bunny Wailer

Thursday, December 6

12 noon. ALL ThAT Jazz. HOST mark weber. “Playing free is really completely different from playing on a tune. There is no prearranged harmonic progression, no fixed underlying structure; there are no restrictions of any kind. Every aspect of the music must be spontaneously improvised moment by moment. While I’m playing I literally have no idea what’s going to happen next. This doesn’t mean that the music is random. Playing random, I feel, is playing something not heard in the inner ear. I wouldn’t wish to do this even if I could. For me, the pleasure and the joy of playing is hearing come out of the piano what’s sounding in my head.” – Musician Connie Crothers

Friday, December 7

8 a.m. University Showcase. “Peace Corps Volunteers at UNM.” Our guests will be Ms. Lisa Paton, Peace Corps Recruiter and Graduate Student, working toward her masters in the Language, Literacy, and Sociocultural Studies Department at UNM; Ms. Clara Holguin, former Peace Corps Volunteer in Kerak, Jordan, a graduate student in public administration and currently Executive Director of the Brain Injury Association of NM; and Mr. Joseph J. Garcia, a doctoral student in Latin American Studies and a former Peace Corps Volunteer in Paraguay. Mr. Garcia is currently President of the Graduate and Professional Students Association at UNM. These three individuals will discuss their experiences with the Peace Corps, what they have done, what they have learned and why the Peace Corps is an important program in promoting good relations between America and many developing countries. Hosted by Dick Frederiksen. Produced by Nancy Harmon.

Saturday, December 8

6 a.m. New Dimensions. “The Emergence of Integral Consciousness” with Allan Combs. Teacher of Consciousness studies, Allan Combs has spent the past three decades exploring the spiritual and psychological implications of leading-edge scientific discoveries. How does the submicroscopic world of the quantum physicist relate to the macroscopic world of biology? We all sense intuitively that reality is not a jumbled assortment of unrelated parts, but a dynamic, unified whole. Allan Combs explores the emergence of what he calls “Integral Consciousness,” a perspective which reveals the unity beneath all our diverse domains of understanding.

Sunday, December 9

11 a.m. Sage Health On Call. Our studio guest, Dr. Brian Shelley, will join host Robin Tawney, Instructor at the NM School of Natural Therapeutics, Aaron Kaufman, DO, co-founder of the Integrative Medicine Clinic in Albuquerque, and KUNM listeners in a discussion about mindfulness-based stress reduction, weight loss and integrative medicine. Dr. Shelley is co-founder (with Dr. Arti Prasad and Dr. Mary Smith-Fassler) of the UNM Center for Life Integrative Medicine Specialty clinic. Dr. Shelley developed the “Mindful Eating And Living (MEAL) Program at the Center. He is a board-certified family physician, and an assistant professor in the UNM Section of Integrative Medicine. Dr. Shelley worked with traditional healers in Zimbabwe and in North Carolina, which led him to be one of the leaders of bridging alternative and conventional medicines. “Sage Health on Call” is produced for KUNM on the second Sunday of every month by Halima Christy, MA, CHt, NTS, director of EcoSage Wellness Institute in Albuquerque.

6 p.m. Chanukah: A Time for Shtick. From Groucho Marx to Judy Gold, this holiday special focuses on jokes, whimsy and the shtick of comedians, storytellers, even the great jokester Sigmund Freud himself. This program could be called, The First Annual Public Radio Chanukah Joke Show, no joke. Hosted by Arye Gross, the program showcases a range of comic artistry, including stand-up comedians from San Francisco’s annual Kung Pao

Kosher Comedy Christmas celebration and from the J.A.P. Show (Jewish American Princesses of Comedy) in New York City; Archival tracks from the trailblazing comediennes of the 1940s and ’50s Sophie Tucker, Pearl Williams; and a preview of “Making Trouble: Three Generations of Funny Jewish Women,” a hilarious documentary on American Jewish comics, from Molly Picon to Gildna Radner. “Chanukah: A Time for Shtick” offers serious fun-thought about the origins of Jewish humor and joke telling, but for the most part, it delivers filling zingers, samplings and one-liners, all without holiday indigestion. (Pre-empt's Radio Theatre).

Wednesday, December 12

7 p.m. Reading and Conversations Series with Naomi Klein with Laura Flanders. Live broadcast from the Lensic Theatre in Santa Fe. Naomi Klein is an award-winning journalist, syndicated columnist and author of the international bestseller No Logo: Taking Aim at the Brand Bullies, called “a movement bible” by The New York Times. Her book Fences and Windows: Dispatches from the Front Lines of the Globalization Debate was published in 2002 and in 2004 she and Avi Lewis released The Take, a feature documentary about Argentina’s worker-occupied factories. Klein writes a regular column for The Nation and The Guardian. Her latest book, The Shock Doctrine: The Rise of Disaster Capitalism, was published earlier this year. Ms. Klein will be interviewed by Laura Flanders, the host of RadioNation on Air America. She is the author of Blue Grit: True Democrats Take Back Politics from the Politicians and the bestselling book BUSHWOMEN: Tales of a Cynical Species. The series is produced by the Lannan Foundation. This event is sold out.

10 p.m. Southwest Stages. “An Evening with the Dave Mason.” Rock and Roll Hall of Famer, Dave Mason, from the 2005 Telluride Jazz Celebration at the Town Park in Telluride, CO.

Friday, December 14

8 a.m. Back Roads Radio. As a response to the holiday season, the Back Roads show, “Shopping” is a collection of stories and writings that relate to the dynamics of commerce large and small. Featured writers/tellers: Lorain Varela, Terry Davis, Lucy Moore and Goose E. Fedders. Back Roads is a Viewpoint Production hosted by Judy Goldberg.

Saturday, December 15

6 a.m. New Dimensions. “Our Natural Goodness” with Sylvia Boorstein. As one of the most beloved American teachers of Buddhism, Sylvia Boorstein shares her insights on how we can be more accepting of the negative patterns in our minds, and find happiness regardless of the challenges we face. With personal stories about her own foibles as well as her wisdom, Dr. Boorstein helps us realize how each of us can make moment-to-moment changes that alter the way we see ourselves and the world around us.

Sylvia Boorstein

Sunday, December 16

11 a.m. “Your Billion Dollar President.” More than a billion dollars will be spent by candidates in pursuit of the 2008 U.S. presidency. “Your Billion Dollar President” looks at what it takes to get elected and what the candidates’ spending, marketing and campaigning say about the quality of our democracy. The program examines how campaigns are targeting narrow communities of voters and whether those messages are being heard. It probes how the act of contributing to a campaign changes a voter’s sense of engagement. And it puts forward provocative questions about the relationship between money and power, following two controversial and very close presidential election cycles. The Web site billiondollarpresident.org offers additional content (including video) and interactive features to help listeners better understand choices being made by campaigns and the choices they will have to make on election day. Co-hosted by John Hockenberry and Adaora Udoji.

6 pm. Radio Theatre. “Patch & Click: Hidden Architecture.” This science fiction comic adventure paints a thrilling vision of the future. Humans are patching their spinal cords into the cyberstream, and robotic talking animals are fighting for their rights. Rich soundscapes compliment the action, mystery and humor in this production from WMNF, Tampa, FL.

Wednesday, December 19

10 p.m. Southwest Stages. “An Evening with Ralph Stanley.” Mountain music icon, Ralph Stanley, recorded live at the historic Lensic Theater in Santa Fe in February 2006.

Friday, December 21

8 a.m. Covering the Immigration Debate. NPR Reporter Mandalit del Barco shares her perspective on covering one of the critical issues of the day: immigration. She addressed an audience at the United World College in Las Vegas, New Mexico. Program recorded and produced by KUNM’s Elaine Baumgartel.

Saturday, December 22

6 a.m. “Finding Courage When Your Life Turns Upside Down” with Jan Yanehiro Emmy winning television producer and host, Jan Yanehiro had everything she’d dreamed of—career, family, money, and more. Suddenly it all turned upside down. Faced with the death of her husband, the loss of her ideal job, and financial ruin, she found strength and support from other women dealing with similar struggles. With practical advice about getting on top of your finances, tips for bringing more laughter into your life, and everything in between, Ms. Yanehiro reminds us, “It’s incredible the fortitude that women can have. We just need to have our friends to surround us, and tell us how much we have.”

7 p.m. Ear To The Ground. A trombone is for Christmas. You open up 7 o’clock and there it is, not just one, but six! The partridge couldn’t be happier. CHRISTMAS TROMBONES, a live broadcast from KUNM Studio A of traditional Christmas tunes in modernistic arrangements for six trombones, by Michael Vlatkovich. Host Mark Weber.

Sunday, December 23

11:00 a.m. The DNA Files. Some say manipulating genes in plants and animals is the solution to world hunger; others say genetically modified organisms are neither safe to eat or to grow. How do we understand what’s really on our dinner plate? Host: John Hockenberry.

6:00 p.m. Radio Theatre. Two unconventional holiday pieces. First, “The Courtyard” by Debo Kotun, a multi-cultural tale of the spirit of giving set against the reality of life on the streets. Some kids at the Courtyard decide to feed the homeless this coming Christmas holiday. William, a Chinese boy who graduated from Arcadia High School a few years back, advises Malcolm, the African American Muslim boy, not to go to school the next day. Then, “Drizzle” by Fredrick Greenhalgh, opens on a miserable morning at the latest moment of a life which had until that point seemed nothing except, well, miserable. This is the story of a bitter business man stuck in the cloud of his day-to-day obligations and misery. But a random event on the way to work one morning changes everything.

Wednesday, December 26

10 p.m. Southwest Stages. “An Evening with the Ziggy Marley.” Music and interview from reggae’s son, Ziggy Marley, recorded live from the Bob Marley Roots, Rock, Reggae Tour at the Journal Pavilion Amphitheater in Albuquerque in August 2006.

Ziggy Marley

Thursday, December 27

8 a.m. New Mexico: The Year in Review. A roundtable discussion with New Mexico journalists of some of the top news stories of the year. News Director Steve Shadley hosts.

Friday, December 28

8 a.m. Seeking Peace on Earth: The 2007 Peace Talks Radio Special. A compendium of some of the most compelling moments from the 2007 season of Peace Talks Radio, the series on peacemaking and nonviolent conflict resolution. Featured: Nobel Peace Laureate Jody Williams, Author Byron Katie, memories of diplomat Ralph Bunche, and more. The series is produced by the non-profit media organization Good Radio Shows, Inc. The entire programs from which the excerpts for this program were drawn can be heard at www.peacetalksradio.com, where you can also hear all the other programs in the series. (One hour, pre-empts This Way Out)

Saturday, December 29

6 a.m. New Dimensions. “Finding Your Inner Compass” with Joan Borysenko.

Spiritual teacher and author, Borysenko shares how to get past the chatter in your mind to find the wisdom that comes from a deeper place, your truest inner guidance. She takes you back to the basic principles of ancient spiritual teachings, but with a light and gentle touch, and includes practical tools you can use that will help you find your own guidance—today.

Sunday, December 30

6 p.m. Radio Theatre. A double feature from Great Northern Radio Theatre to keep the whole family warm over the holiday break. “Super Pal: The Saving of the World.” The rogue comet, Skippy, is headed right for Big City in this superhero mockumentary. Backed by “The Jewels of the Eleventh Generation.” Treasure hunters board the 300-year-old generation starship, The Professor Irwin Corey, and, as usual, find pirates, love, adorable children and plenty of squeaky toys. Starring David Ossman of Firesign Theatre.

8 p.m. A Season’s Griot 2007. Public radio’s only nationally syndicated Kwanzaa program. Hosted for the last 15 years by acclaimed storyteller Madafo Lloyd Wilson, this annual one-hour special captures the tales and traditions of African American and African peoples. This year, the program focuses on the National Association of Black Storytellers, in honor of the group’s 25th anniversary. During the program, Madafo, a long-time member of the group, weaves together stories told by group members with an interview with Goss about Smith’s life and their creation of a vibrant forum for black storytelling. (Pre-empts Spoken Word).✍

There is a no General Meeting of the KUNM community (for volunteers, staff, members, listeners and the general public) in December. The next General Meeting will be on January 30, 2008.
